Content:

To utilize the possibilities which IT could provide to your business, the knowledge about IT Governance is crucial for the corporate management. Many companies consider IT traditionally still as a help function instead of an integral part of their business. But it could be more than that. With its focus on e.g. delivering values, managing and measuring risks and resources, the right IT Governance may support you to fulfill and exceed your company's strategy and objectives within a fast growing and changing environment. Take part at the seminar 'IT Governance in China' if you would like to find out how to integrate a former tool called IT, into one of your most valuable business units.

Speaker:

Mr. Christopher Hock, Manager & Certified Information Systems Auditor at Mazars

Mr. Hock is responsible for planning, performing and managing of IT Audit assignments for numerous sizeable international corporations in a great variety of industries.
